

WE NOMINATE

Lucy McCarthy Caldwell, one of the dedicated Princetonians of this decade and a rare "public servant" whose modesty completely obscures the scope and depth of her contributions to literally 1,000's of "servicemen under fire in the Vietnam War." Next Saturday Mrs. Caldwell, the widow of Charles W. Caldwell Jr., a commanding figure in the history of Princeton and American football, heads eastward for Vietnam and her fourth tour of duty in three years as a director of the China Beach USO near shell-spattered Da Nang where she walks to work every morning and feels "as much at home as if I were passing familiar faces in walking from College Road to Princeton Hospital."

It was in the spring of 1966 that Mrs. Caldwell, a native of Buffalo, N. Y., and long active in the development of the Princeton Recording for the Blind, became the first American civilian to arrive in Saigon "for work" without any kind of official government sponsorship or support. She recalls: "I reached Saigon in the afternoon and went to work the next morning. I showed up at the USO and said 'I have six days here. Is there anything I can do to help?' They were surprised, but since they were so short-handed, they were pleased." Consequently, she spent a week helping sort by state into 50 large potato-chip cans mail addressed to "Any GI in Vietnam."

Fired by the calibre and aspirations of U.S. soldiers, a number of whom had played football at Princeton under her distinguished husband, Mrs. Caldwell literally "gave her life" to the USO. Back in Princeton this summer for a brief leave, following some two years as a dollar-a-year staff member of the USO, she succeeded actress Martha Raye as the second recipient of the Dickey Chapelle Award, memorializing an able journalist killed in Vietnam and recognizing the woman contributing most to "the morale, well-being and welfare of the Marines," and for the second time in three years was also cited by the Commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps for her inspirational service.

Mrs. Caldwell's 18-hour days and 7-day weeks in Da Nang, divided between the USO and the U.S. Naval Hospital on a peninsula sticking out into the South China Sea, are evoked by an extract from a letter of commendation from General Leonard F. Chapman: "The benefits we realize from your efforts are multiple. You have made a difficult situation more bearable for 1,000's of men . . . You have given all of us, at home and abroad, a refreshing example of American patriotism in action." And it is significant that in recent weeks, in visiting the U.S. Naval Hospital in Philadelphia, 67 of some 70 terribly wounded young Marines remembered Mrs. Caldwell, a blonde grandmother, by their favorite name, "Lucy Baby."

Without attempting to grind political axes about the war in Vietnam, and responsible last Christmas for a record-breaking outpouring of Princeton gifts for servicemen overseas, Mrs. Caldwell humanizes American "G.I.'s" in much the same way the late Ernie Pyle did in World War II. For example, one time she came upon two Marines stulling their pockets with soap. "When I said I was curious to know what they were going to do with all of it, one explained it was their platoon's turn to give baths to the children of one of the near-by villages."

For feeling that "I've never done anything more satisfying in my life," for, in the words of a decorated Marine major, "showing us how to endow others with hope and faith," for quietly asserting: "I've never been prouder to be an American than I am in Vietnam," she is 'TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

FIFTY YEARS AGO ...
Hospital Group Formed. It was the influenza epidemic of 1918 - 50 years ago in Princeton.

As that tragic epidemic worked its way relentlessly through the town, it became increasingly evident that Princeton needed - a hospital. The mayor at that time, Charles Browne, asked the Visiting Nurses Association to organize and staff a small emergency hospital to care for influenza victims.

Then he asked a resident of Princeton, Mrs. Edward G. Spaulding, if she would raise money to finance the new project. From that request and that nucleus, the present Princeton Hospital Aid Committee was formed.

The group now has about 125 active members, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Paul C. Herkert. Members contribute over 18,000 hours a year of voluntary work to the hospital. And in the 30 years since the Committee was formed, its members have earned $369,992.00 in money and equipment for the giant complex that is now Princeton Hospital.

We Celebrate. Last week, members of the Hospital Aid Committee were guests of the hospital's Board of Trustees at a luncheon at the Princeton Inn.

How was it in days gone by when Princeton Hospital was newly established in a farmhouse on Witherspoon Street - when a second-hand shop called The Attic, run by the Aid Committee, had to close because profits had dwindled so much during Depression years ... what it was like to carry on a fund-raising campaign in 1919 ...

When Mrs. Spaulding was asked by Mayor Browne to raise money for the desperately-needed new hospital, she turned to women in Princeton who had always been active in

THE DREWRY'S BEGIN TEACHING AT PRINCETON: Two courses focusing specifically on black America have been added to the Princeton University curriculum this year, featuring two career educators, Cecelia and Henry Drewry, as teachers. Mrs. Drewry, a faculty member at Douglass College, has been named a Visiting Lecturer in English and is directing a seminar on "Black American Writers." Mr. Drewry, former chairman of Princeton High School's social studies department, and newly named director of the University's Teacher Preparation and Placement program, will teach a course in "Afro-American History." The Drewrys live at 2 Glenview Drive.

to organize and with Mrs. Spaulding as their first chairman, they joined in formal fashion and called themselves the Hospital Aid and Salvage Committee. Salvage was dropped after a time - not very profitable.

By 1925, it was time to build a new hospital. A fund-raising campaign was successful, but all the money went toward the new building, and the Hospital Aid Committee volunteered to raise the money necessary to keep the old one functioning even as now.

A new project was started in 1927. It was "The Attic," a shop at 14 Chambers Street, where you could buy used clothing and household goods which had been donated, or were offered for sale on a commission basis.

For a time, everything went well. The Attic earned about $1,000 in net profits each year, where you could buy the standards of the late 20's. Money might be spent for an autolove, new furniture for the nurses' home, an X-ray machine, acoustical ceilings for the operating room.

We Open ... and Close. During the Depression years, however, "The Attic" profits gradually dropped, chiefly because not many people had used clothing to give away. In 1940, the door of The Attic was closed, and the Hospital Aid Committee decided that rummage sales probably turned the latest profits.

Each decade, rummage profits climb: in the '40s, rummage sales averaged $1,200 each in profit; in the 30s, $2,200 each; in the early '60s, $3,000. Today, each Hospital Aid Committee rummage sale brings in about $4,500, and there are two each year.

We Serve, Buy and Sell. In 1952, still another project began. On December 8 the Aid Committee opened a coffee shop in the hospital's new wing. Soon, gifts, toys and candy were added, then magazines and books and cosmetics to make a sick-room bright.

This year, the Hospital Aid Shop divided its service; the coffee shop is now on one side of the main hospital corridor, and the gift shop is across the hall.

Money earned through rummage sales and the gift shop is applied toward the cost of special hospital equipment. An electronic patient monitoring system for example, was provided for the hospital's intensive care unit.

We Are Honored. Several long-time members of the Hospital Aid Committee were present at last week's luncheon. Mrs. Charles Parsons, a charter member, sat at the head table with George Conover, president of the hospital's board of trustees who was master of ceremonies; John W. Kaufman, hospital administrator and Walter A. Seligman, his associate; the Rev. George Fitzgerald, hospital chaplain; Dr. William H. Burchfield, president of the medical and dental staff, and Mrs. Herkert, present H.A.C. committee president. Another charter member, Mrs. Casper Goodrich, was unable to be present.

Mrs. George D. Saville and Mrs. Harry Olson recalled early days of the organization for members present at the luncheon.

Honorary members who went to the luncheon were Madames Archibald M. Crossley, Frank T. Gorman, Shove Palmer, Karl D. Pettit and George C. Wintinger. Miss Sarah Hodge, also an honorary member, was unable to attend.

"We are proud of your organization," Mr. Conover told the guests, "and the contributions you have made toward the growth of Princeton Hospital."

Borough Police said that Pierre Encenaz of 22 Church Street, Kingston, struck the taxi when he failed to halt for a stop sign as he entered Prospect from Broadmead. He was admitted to the hospital suffering from a fractured rib, back injuries and a lacerated face. P.D. Timothy Huizing investigated.

GARAGE STILL PLANNED

At $800,000 Outlay, The Borough Planning Board has reaffirmed 1970 as the target date for construction of a municipal parking garage. The estimated cost of $800,000 is included in the capital budget as required by the state of all municipalities.

The Planning Board also recommends including in the capital budget funds for the purchase of the old quarry on Spruce Street for a public park. The action was taken at its October meeting Tuesday night.

TOPICS Of The Town

INSPECTION CONTINUES
Of Borough Rentals. So far, 1,617 Borough rental units have been inspected and 273 remain to be examined in the Board of Health's self-styled "crash program of repairs" into rental housing. The program was launched last February, and was scheduled for completion in six months.

David Blake, health officer for the Borough, said this week that Project Director Thomas McIlhenney hasn't had time to draft a progress report because of his faculty duties at Westminster Choir College.

The program was authorized by the Board of Health late in January. Actual interviewing began in February.

Mr. Blake said that the inspection program has been delayed because the six student interviewers working under

Mr. McIlhenney, had academic commitments to meet. ("Some of the Choir College boys had to go off on tour with the Choir," Mr. Blake observed).

During the summer, Mr. Blake said, the program would have ground to a halt altogether except for interviewing done by one Seminary student plus the two teenage sons of Mrs. John Fischer, Board of Health member who chairman of the board's Committee on Housing.

You Can't Come In. Of the 273 apartments or houses that haven't been inspected, 83 were vacant. If were rented by tenants who refused to let the interviews in and 153 were marked "no contact" after several visits failed to turn up anyone at home.

Mr. Blake said several of the 37 tenants who refused admission to the interviews had told by the landlord not to let him in.

A nub of the program was the Board of Health's desire that the interviews be done by people who are in the Borough, here they are and what conclusion they are at.

The interviewers are not "inspectors" in the legal sense, Mr. Blake pointed out in discussing the program. They have reported only obvious and outstanding things, like a leaking roof or unsafe plumbing, which is overflowing into plaster ceilings on the ground floor.

Mr. Blake also reported that some tenants replied "no"

BUILDING TRADES UNIONS SUPPORT UNITED FUND CAMPAIGN: On the basis that the building trades division obtains a vast amount of work in the Princeton area, the Central Labor Union for the Building Trades Unions has pledged its support of this year's United Fund-Red Cross campaign to raise $460,247. Seated left to right are: Albert Rauch, Plumbers and Steamfitters Local No. 380; and William Fry, Carpenters' Local No. 781 and co-chairman of the United Fund-Red Cross Building Trades Division. Standing left to right: Anthony Acquaviva, Bricklayers Local No. 9; Donald J. Kennedy, Electrical Workers Local No. 289; Roy Johnson, Roofers Local No. 108; William Shanfield, Laborers' Local No. 50; and Benjamin Knott, Sheet Metal Workers C. 111.

when asked if they had hot water. Technically there might be a hot-water heater, but only in the form of a small coal-burning stove which the tenant did not use, Mr. Blake said.

Last July, Mr. Blake, Mrs. Fischer and Mr. McIlhenney made a spot check in the Park Place-Wiggins-Humbert area, and found that their interviewers had been accurate in their reporting, Mr. Blake said.

To Check Violations. "We're going to ask Mr. McIlhenney to pick up the 273 he hasn't been able to visit," Mr. Blake continued. "I will begin soon to make regular inspections of violations noted in the 1,617 we've done so far."

The program was financed entirely by the State Board of Health with a grant of $4,200, and the understanding that the survey would be only a "survey" and not an inspection, because the interviewers were not legally qualified as health officers, sanitary inspectors or housing code officers.

Inspection of the 1,617 plus the remainder, when the survey has been completed—will have to be done by Mr. Blake alone. He estimates the salary of a qualified helper at $10,120, and he says they are hard to find, and anyway.

It was announced last week that the Borough will receive another $6,250 this year, and $10,150 next year from the state, and must tell the state by October 15 how it plans to spend the money.

Next year's $10,000 could go toward the salary of a helping inspector, Mr. Blake suggests. The additional $6,000 for 1968 will probably be used to hire interviewers, at $2 an hour, to wipe up the remaining un-surveyed units.

IT'S THERE!
Problem on Nassau Street. The problem is there and it certainly doesn't give a good image to Princeton.

"We're doing the best we can with the tools we have to work with but unless there is a change in the judicial system, and unless there is a change on the part of the parents and the citizens themselves, I'm afraid we are going to have this problem for a long time."

The speaker: Chief Peter J. McCrohan. The problem: the overflow of teenagers and loiterers who clog Nassau Street sidewalks and business entrances between Renwick's and Witherspoon Street. The turnout was particularly heavy this weekend. One estimated it at more than 150 in six groups strung between Skirins Smoke Shop and the First National Bank. The bank plaza was just filled with kids," said Chief McCrohan.

Some of them carried signs. One boy was playing an accordion," Chief McCrohan said.

"We keep them moving, but that's all we can do," he continued. The Borough police had extra men on duty in the area to see they kept moving.

"But the kids aren't afraid of the police, anyway," said Chief McCrohan. "They feel this is their domain and they can do it. They come from all over; it's a real problem."

A couple of times, Chief McCrohan pointed his finger at the parents. "We're not getting through to them," he said. "I know a lot of parents who approve of what their kids are doing. It's the thing to do. People keep asking, 'Why don't the police do something?' That's easier said than done."

Chief McCrohan reported that in May the police arrested a boy who was in the area every night. "He was a habitual loiterer," he said. "There still hasn't been any decision on him yet in the courts."

Topics Of The Town

Public Schools last Thursday. The meeting was low-key, almost diffident in tone, in contrast to the sharp, hot budget meetings of last winter.

R. Morton Darrow, presiding, told the audience that letter-writers responding to the Friends' question, "How do you rate Princeton's public schools?" had sent in ratings that ranged from "lousy" all the way to "excellent."

"We want to get a fix from you on what the Friends should do," he told the audience.

He said the Princeton Regional School Board was eager for help from the Friends, and that an "informed electorate" they could talk things over with. He suggested that the Princeton community and its schools needed to "reinvigorate a sense of liveliness, of growth and of 'going somewhere.'"

Letter-writers said the schools need:

- Small groups of children imported from Trenton, both to help them, and to give Princeton children a broader outlook.

- Seminars and smaller classes at the high school.

- "Sensitively training" in race relations for teachers.

- More classes for gifted children.

- Budget study in depth, including a study of the school buildings and their relation to the curriculum.

- Evaluation of past experiments.

- Pre-school for three-year olds.

- A study of students' aspirations, and a closer followup of high school graduates.

- More individual attention for all pupils.

- More criticism from the students themselves, and more involvement of students in school matters.

- Courses in economics, sociology, psychology and contemporary problems at the high school.

- Use of older students and volunteers as tutors.

- More use of outside experts.

Budget? Maybe. At the meeting, Mr. Darrow said the Friends would probably set up study groups to find out how school money is spent in other communities, because it was Princeton's own school budget defeat that sparked the Friends into being.

He said the group would not necessarily support a school budget: "We are not a public relations spokesman for the board—we want to be free to attack the board if we think it's necessary."

Summarizing the scattered, somewhat amorphous remarks from the audience, Mrs. Jess Epstein suggested three chief project areas for the Friends: (1) long range, like investigating the way other towns handle such things as non graded schools, for example; (2) middle-range, like exploring new courses that might be added at the high school and (3) short-range, like listening to parents who are disturbed about something that may be going on in class.

When Mr. Darrow charged that the way the school board handled the Wednesday Afternoon program was "horrendous," Mrs. Elaine Solomon, Middle School teacher on the Wednesday Program Council, invited Mr. Darrow to come and talk it over.

POLITICS

Republicans for Democrats. Reasons why Township Republicans should vote for Township Democratic candidates will be presented at a meeting this Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church.

"Republicans and Independents for Floyd and Hartmann" will lead the discussion, with L. E. ("Len") Newton in charge.

James A. Floyd and Thomas B. Hartmann, Democratic candidates for Township Committee, will be present.

Here it is October first
And fall already
Has a thirst.

September rainfall was a bout half of normal and there has been no measurable precipitation for more than three weeks.

Showers are a possibility Friday and again on Sunday, the Man reports, but no great amount is likely either time. Temperatures, which have been flirting with records in the mid 80s, will return to lower levels. That first frost, however, appears to be a while away.

The candidates will be guests of honor at a cocktail party given by Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Fox, 140 Hunt Drive, this Sunday from 4:6 p.m. The affair is open to all, and reservations should be made with Mrs. John Hite, 921-2080.

A "coffee" for the candidates will be given on Sunday morning from 9:30 to 11:30 at the home of Mrs. H. C. Curtiss, 54 Southern Way. Those who wish to attend are asked to call Mrs. Curtiss at 924-5955.

News Of The THEATRES

COMPANY COMING . . .
Actors Sign In. Old faces — well, familiar faces — will return to McCarter Theatre this season in the professional repertory company.

Anno Gee Byrd, who has been at McCarter for four seasons, is not only back, but has already been cast in "As You Like It."

Susan Kaslow, featured last spring in "The Marriage of Figaro" and "Beggars Opera," will be on stage opening night in the premiere of "The Village: A Party," by the young Philadelphia playwright Charles Fuller.

Robert Blackman, who acted and directed at McCarter,

RACHEL, RACHEL: Joanne Woodward portrays an unmarried school teacher "exactly in the middle of her life" a woman of delightful humor, gentleness and fear, in the film held over this week at the Playhouse and Prince.

1963-65, is back again in both roles. He will direct "Charley's Aunt" and "The Scarecrow."

Gordon Phillips, who directed "The Braggart Warrior" in the spring of '67, will be in charge of "The Glass Menagerie" this year, and will co-direct "Oedipus the King" with Arthur Ludwig.

Will Hicks and Grady Clark son have also decided to rejoin the company.

New in Town. Newcomers include Brendan Burke, whose last assignments were at the Bucks County Playhouse, but whose earlier years were spent at the Dublin's Gate and Abbey Theatres. Because of his Irish background, everybody has decided that he should direct O'Casey's "The Plough and the Stars," final play in the season.

And — Mary Bell, who will play Amanda in "The Glass Menagerie" and has done work in "The Miracle Worker," "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and "The Strike."

Eight seasons at the American Shakespeare Festival in Stratford prepared Richard Matthews for McCarter. The Arena Stage in Washington, where "Romeo and Juliet" is in the resume of Denegon Smith, . . . the A.P.A. production of "The Flies" and the Centre Dramatique National at Aix, in France were proving grounds for Holly Willaire, who will be Laure in "Menagerie."

In integrated company will be featured in "The Village: A Party," Ed Bernard, a founder of the Afro-American Arts

IT'S NEW To Us

PIE IN THE SKY

At Renwick's. With football crowds dropping in on you these days, you'll be glad to know that Renwick's on Nassau Street has bountiful suggestions.

"Our pies are thirty-six inches high. Cut a piece and you need four mouths to get around it," Harold Ostroff said exuberantly the other day, sliding a mammoth whipped cream pie on the bakery shelf. Between making change for customers and giving directions to Alexander Hall, he added:

"We have doughnuts as big as a mule's head and chocolate chip cookies the size of . . . 'Bak training wheels'!" That's it!" he said. "You've got it."

To settle down, Renwick's restaurant "and catering" don't forget we do a lot of that") has opened its bakery after the summer hiatus. These big-sized goodies are baked daily on the premises, starting at an unspendable hour.

Since Renwick's is open until after midnight, it's a good source to remember.

Renwick's pecan pie recipe goes back to the early days, when the restaurant was mainly an ice cream parlor. The particulars are important, in that the pecans are not chopped, but the "whole half pecans" as Mr. Ostroff calls it, is used. It's rich, and as delicious as any you'll sample in the Virginia Tidewater country.

Once a week the bakery turns out cheese cake with cherry topping. If you're wise you'll order ahead. It's light (dreamily) good. Also comes with blueberries on top or plain.

Strawberry shortcake — "most of the year we use Canadian strawberries. They have a special long, thin strawberry that we like," Harold Ostroff said.

"And danish pastry — We can't make enough danish and doughnuts," he adds proudly. The danish are round with a slice of apple on top, or cherries, or a nest of blueberries. The size, let's get it straight, is five to six inches in diameter (and the pies are really high, like the pecan-topped buns).

The restaurant makes key lime pie that customers watch for, and brownies, chocolate iced with a walnut on top. You can buy napoleons and eclairs, fruit pies of various varieties, fat cinnamon buns.

The bakery is the result of Harold's rooting around in the archives. He came across an index file of recipes. "We began doing the brownies, the chocolate chip cookies and the pecan pies and before we knew it, we were doing our baking on the premises."

Everything is, shall we say, family size? or ravenously small boy size? We're still in a trance from the cherry-topped cheese cake.

BIRTHDAY RASH: Instead of lighting candles on her birthday, September 24, Leona Eastwood opened a new store, "Fabrics by Leona" in the Montgomery Shopping Center on Route 206. Her partner is Tony Albano, elected head of the new Montgomery Merchants' Association last Thursday. "Don't ask me how old I am," Leona says, "but I'm three months older than he is." The customers are Mrs. Otto Young Jr., of Rocky Hill and her daughter, Beverly.

TODAY'S PURCHASE

For Tomorrow's Heirloom. About 200 years ago, they began making Waterford crystal in Ireland — a handblown-and-cut class treasured by generations of gentlewomen.

Exquisite and elegant goblets, decanters, bowls and pitchers cut in endlessly intriguing designs that catch and gently reflect candlelight. It's a crystal with a high lead content, which accounts for its utter clarity.

Which is all by way of telling you that you'll find it at the Cummins Shop, 98 Nassau Street, if you want to make an investment in timelessness. Just ask Gus Huil or Mrs. Petrone.

Among the goblets, with cut patterns that range from a medieval Ireland look to modern, rounded fronts, are "Kylmore" with a medieval, jeweled design in the lower portion of the cup; "Glenmore" with chisled feathers encircled twice; "Alma," a geometric series of intersecting lines.

MUSIC In Princeton

WORK TO BE COMPOSED
For Chamber Orchestra, N. J.
Chorus Harsanyi, conductor of the Princeton Chamber Orchestra, has commissioned Arno Salfran,
an assistant professor of music at Trenton State College, to compose a symphonic work for the evening's 1969 70 concert season.

A resident of 3 West Frank lin Avenue, Flemington, Mr.
Salfran is currently composing a score for an experimental film by Frederick Oles, New Lawrence Township, entitled
"Orpheus." In 1963, Mr. Salfran's
"Three Statements" was given its world premiere by the Princeton Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Salfran, music critic for TOWN TOPICS, studied at the University of Hartford, Branden University and the New England Conservatory. He joined the Trenton State faculty in 1965.

RECITAL PLANNED
By Westminster Pianist, Mathilde McKinney, professor of Piano and head of the Piano
Department at Westminster College, will give a recital at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the College Playhouse, open to the public, with charge.

The recital will include
Beethoven's "Sonata" Opus
23, "Impromptus" Opus
20, by Bartok, Schumann's
"Davidsbündler, Opus 6," Two preludes by Debussy and "Jardins sous la pluie," also by Debussy.

Professors McKinney served on the faculties at Wooster and Douglass Colleges before joining Westminster. She also served from 1939 to 1945 as pianist for the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra.

AUDITIONS SCHEDULED
By University Opera Club.
Auditions for the December production of Purcell's "Dido and Aeneas," are now being held by the Princeton University Opera Club.

All types of voices are needed both for solo and chorus parts. Those interested should call David Abramowitz at 221 829 N. Hall, 432-7880 or at the music department, 432-2421,
for further information and appointments.

"HANSEL AND GRETEL"
For Halloween. On All Hall-

It's New To Us

ing diagonals, and "Sheila," grouping of softly rounded leaves. The prices range from about $8 to $19.50 each.

The decanters may be an answer to your problem if you're gift hunting — particularly for a man. Beautifully, but unostentatiously cut, they come in one size for cardinals, and larger for wines and liquor. The cost is $27.50 to $37.50.

And if you know an Old Salt, there's a Waterford ship's decanter, made with plenty of room to grip the long neck.
While the sea is rolling, that holds a good fifth of his favorite in the shallow base that's maybe 12" wide, ($40.00) it won't tip over.

Cummins also has the new Thermo glasses — stackable, dishwasher proof, unbreakable.
They come in the wonderful colors that you see in stained glass windows. At $1 each, in old fashioned and highball
sizes. You can stack them easily due to the two-part design — great if you're fighting for shelf space.

By the way, Cummins has some new designs in cheese
dip boards, attractive center designs of riotous daisies, or marigolds, or fat, jeweled fish. The colors are bright, set off by the walnut board surrounding. All have stainless steel knives and the price is from $7 to $12, depending upon whether you prefer daisies or fish.

And if table linen is becoming a chore, you may want to see Cummins' reversible place
mats with an Irish linen look.
They're delicate, with the appearance of hand work. Mostly oval in shape, the mats come in yellow, blue, green and white. Flip over the blue side for the yellow. ($1 each)

"FABRICS BY LEONA"
New Store Opens. Twenty years in the fabric business is,
you must admit, a lot of yardage. Leona Eastwood brings this experience to her new store, opened just last week in the Montgomery Shopping Center, Route 206.

It is just chock-full of materials — domestic and imports, inexpensive and "way up there. There are all sorts of prints, ranging from embroideries to ostrich feathers and maribou.

The long, long row of woolens on your right will attract you as you step in, but first go dead ahead to the table with the orlon-and-wool jersey knits. The unusual thing is that the fabric has a series of light-stitched tubes flanking a row of embroidery running the length of the goods at about the center of one side.

Leona has made a skirt and top in beige to show you one way the self-trim can be used.
It also comes in a kelly green with lighter green trim, and in brown with orange. (50" wide, $7/yd.)

Over at the woollens, you'll find Cohama bonded prints 45" wide at $4.39 a yard. Here are tweeds in coat weight 90" wide.

PLAYHOUSE AND PRINCE

Rachel, Rachel (now playing) is a character study of a spinster school teacher who has her first sexual experience at age 35. The producer-director is Paul Newman. His wife, Joanne Woodward, who won an Oscar for her role in "The Three Faces of Eve" could well win another as Rachel.

The role is a sister to all those old maids in countless books and films, who, feeling unwanted and unloved, are putty in the hands of the first man who gives them a tumble. True to tradition, this one winds up with bitter-sweet memories.

Newman has always been skillful in getting inside his roles as an actor; here he reveals the same appreciation for the subtleties of the character Rachel. Fantasies of the heroine and memories of her childhood dredged up by adult experiences are handled with special finesse. Miss Woodward, who is simply superb, conveys all the facets of the character—with an emotional control that never falters.

Several extremely talented players supply memorable vignettes: Kate Harrington as Rachel's possessive mother, James Olson as her seducer, Faye Parsons as a teacher friend with lesbian leanings, Donald Moffat as a lonely unrequited lover. You'll see Paul Newman's and Joanne Woodward's daughter, an exceptionally beautiful girl, as the childhood Rachel.
The songs, performed by The Phetons, have a haunting quality which pervades the film, equating with the shadow cast over Rachel's life by her childhood.

GARDEN

The Two of Us (now playing) A number of awards a broad have been voted to both the film and star Michael Simon, a screen actor with considerable talent. This import from France is a charming tale of an old man and a young boy who manage to bridge the years and get to at $1500. The plot-all design is a large, subtle plaid. One blends three shades of green, another has autumn gold, orange and dark green. Here's camel hair, a generous 60" wide at $16.50 a yard.

Nearby you'll find the fabric names you'll recognize. Clotman, Concord "Kettletail," Abby flannels, Pette Pan cottons.

The imported brocades and silks line the entire wall at the rear, bearing labels from Sweden, Italy, France and Japan. The brocades range in price from $2 to $35 per yard. There are some designer one-of-a-kinds, including a black velvet with silver embroidery appliqued over nearly half the width.

"If there's anything a customer needs, and they don't see it here, we'll get it for them," is Leona's cordial offer. If you've been in her shop in Trenton's Independence Mall, you'll know she means it.

The store has a decorating department, where you can see the world famous Barwick carpeting, or order drapes and slip covers. Tony Albano, Leona's partner, is in charge here.
He'll come with his swatch books and give you free estimates. The carpeting, by the way, includes the kitchen prints "that will make a house, we feel she's not a slave when she's in the kitchen," Tony says.

know each other during a period of stress — the occupation of France in World War II.

The boy is a Jewish lad who is sent to the country for safety during the German occupation. His guardian is an elderly man living on a farm with his wife. The old fellow is ferociously anti-Semitic and the nine-year-old has been warned to pretend he is a Catholic.

The strong attachment that develops between these two males in the two extremes of life is the foundation on which writer-director Claude Berri rests his film. A sturdy and winning youngster called Alain Cohen is the child who portrays the old man. The supporting cast is able. And throughout the film is the "message" about the brotherhood of man. tion of a Research Park Development Group to seek Township tax rates. The candidates pointed to Princeton Gamme-Tech, maker of semi-conductors, which had to move out of the Township because final assembly of its product placed the company in the "manufacturing" rather than the "research" definition and made it unacceptable in an area zoned for service.

The candidates propose a group consisting of Planning Board and Township committee members, plus a technically qualified member of the business scientific community.

The group would interpret zoning laws to prospective firms, to show that Princeton Township really does want to attract companies here. "A Research Park development group could see that any updating of definitions is not detrimental to the surrounding community. But we can't have acres of empty land when we must have live income," Mr. Hartmann said.

Republicans. "We are running on the record and on a blueprint for continued progress at minimum expense to the taxpayer," stated Township Republican candidates, Carl C. Schiller and Burton Pekin this week.

Mr. Pekin said that "every major plank" in the Republican platform since 1962, when Mr. Schuler was first elected, had been put into effect.

As accomplishments, the candidates cite the Community Park pool; juvenile police library; full-time juvenile officer; acquisition of Open Space; execution of regional sewer agreement with five neighboring communities; planning and zoning to maintain community character.

Also a recent ordinance prohibiting the Township from contracting with firms that discriminate the declaration of need for middle-income housing, the ordinance providing for compulsory rental unit inspection and creation of the site plan review committee. Mr. Pekin then cited a 1.9% Township tax rate increase for the year '62-'63.

For the future, the Republican candidates pledge "an easing effort to keep the local tax rate down," implementation of a Human Rights Commission; cooperation with the Princeton Housing Authority for middle-income housing; youth guidance in cooperation with Township and Borough juvenile officers; development of Community Park north of Route 206 and the development of a regional planning board including a full-time regional planner.

POWER SAWS STOLEN

Valued at $637, Power saws, orange pipes and foodstuffs were among the diverse articles listed as stolen last week by Borough and Township police.

Three power saws valued at $637 were reported stolen from the construction site of the University's faculty housing project on South Harrison Street by Jack Zelof, foreman for the Rheinstein Construction Company of NYC.

They were taken from a shed on the site. Ptl. John Hammond and Ptl. Michael Koppeler of the Township police who investigated reported no forced entry.

Juliette Sanson of 10 Academy Street, Kingston, reported the theft Thursday between 1 and 1:30 p.m. of her car, which she had left on the floor of her car.

Missing, she said, were $13 and personal papers from her wallet. Her car had been parked near the railroad dock off Princeton-Kingston Road.

Car Is Stripped. A 1962 Falcon sedan, reported stolen Sunday night by Mrs. Elizabeth Mackie, 98 Bayard Lane, from the apron of her garage, was found the next day by state police off Hollow Road, Skillman.

The car had been stripped, according to Chief Peter J. McCrohan. "Everything that could come off was taken," he said.

Horace Moody, 79 N. Stan-watch and pocketwatch, with a combined value of $200, and a $200 tape recorder player were missing.

The organ player at Trinity Church, James Litton of Trenton, reported that 56 pipes had been stolen from the church organ between Thursday and July 15. The pipes were valued at $1200.

During the weekend, $18 in foodstuffs and some playing cards were stolen from Bovino's Market, 39 Leigh Avenue.

Ptl. Frank Boccanfuso of the Township police, said that a plate glass window in the front had been broken to gain entry. Vincent Bovino is the owner.

BOVINO FREE ON BAIL

After Gaining Arrest, Louis Bovino is free on $5,000 bail, awaiting action by a Grand Jury, following his arrest early last week on gambling charges.

He was arrested inside his store, Louis' Market, 48 Lehigh Avenue, by Chief James H. Campbell and Detective Norman Servis of the Township Police and members of the State Police. He was charged with gaming and possession of gambling paraphernalia.

Detective Servis reported that a preliminary hearing for Bovino in Township Court has been set for October 16.

TWO SLIGHTLY INJURED

In Kingston Road Accident. Two drivers were slightly injured Saturday afternoon at 1:20 when their cars collided at the intersection of the Princeton-Kingston Road and Poe Road.

Mrs. Katherine Gells, 23, of Cranbury, received a four-inch laceration, and John W. Lehmann, 17, 34 Knoll Drive complained of neck pains. Mr. Lehmann was charged by Ptl. Mario Musso with failing to yield at a stop sign.

According to police, Mrs. Gells was traveling in bumper-to-bumper traffic on the Kingston Road, when a driver in the opposite direction failed to let Mr. Lehmann exit Poe Road. As he did a vision was obscured by drivers and he did not see the Gel car until the moment impact.

Cyclist Bruised. Donald A. Fishbein, 16, 133 Longview Drive, received bruises and scrapes of his right knee, thigh and arm last Wednesday morning after his bicycle was struck by a car in the intersection of Harrison Street and Franklin Avenue. He was also x-rayed for chest pains.

Borough P.I. James D. Agins ticketed the driver, Mrs. Alice B. Rockefeller, 59, 449 Ewing Street, with failing to observe a crossing guard's signal. The guard, William Coffey, 60, of Penna Neck, told police he had had both hands raised, signaling all traffic to stop.

Mrs. Rockefeller reported that part of her windshield was being hazy with dew at the time.

"SEA FARE" FOR ALL

Exhibit, at John Witherspoon. Live plants and live animals, including quite possibly a pregnant scacheur, will be on exhibit in their natural environment during a "Sea Fare" exhibit planned for the John Witherspoon School from October 15 to November 1.

Exhibits will show the adaptability of live plants and animals to varying conditions, the chemical and physical properties of water and the treasures of sea life.

"The show has been planned to emphasize the delights of nature," said Mrs. Nathaniel Boonin, president of the John Witherspoon P.T.A.

"Conservation, 'yes,'" adds Mrs. Frederick Latchever, "but with an emphasis on the wonder and delight of nature, rather than 'let's not get this water dirty.'"

A salt-water marsh about eight feet long and a fresh-water fish tank will be set up by the state's Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

A baby octopus will be retained within a tank, and a frog, referred to by Mrs. Latchever as "the enchanted

ELEVEN ARE FINED

In Borough Court. Eleven Princeton area residents were fined in Borough Court Monday by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr.

Seymour B. Alpert, 40, 27 Raymond Road, and Max A. Kocken, 39, 469 North Harrison Street, were fined $10 each, and John R. O'Connor, 34, 139 Mountain Avenue, $10 for speeding.

vic Avenue, noisy muffler, and Mrs. Josephine A. Nelson, 41, 7 Leigh Avenue, careless driving. A 100-point violation cost Brian E. McCarthy, 20, 29 Montgomery Avenue, Rocky Hill, $12.

In criminal court, John G. Nicholas, 35, of Whiteside, N. Y., was fined $25 for using loud and abusive language. The complainant, P.I. Gerald Patterson, testified the defendant became abusive to him after he had issued him a parking ticket.

Fighting charges against Daniel E. McComas of Belle Mead and John A. Caruso of Trenton, signed by each other, were dismissed when Judge Tams was unable to determine from the conflicting testimony who was at fault. The two were fighting Thursday afternoon on Nassau Street near Witherspoon.

Later, McComas signed an assault complaint against Caruso, who signed a counter complaint. Each was ordered to pay $10 court costs.

The state's Division of Motor Vehicles has suspended the licenses of three Princeton area drivers for exceeding the point limit. They are Walter R. Bowser, 21, RD 3, three months; Craig A. Kienitz, 18, Titus Mill Road, Pennington, 90 days; and Warren H. Macurdy, 19, 1 Ryan Road, Cranbury, 45 days.

John C. McLain, 22, of Westminster Choir College, paid $15 for allowing a passenger to ride on the right front fender of his car, while Mrs. Jill O. DeGrazia, 49, 18 Linden Lane, paid $15 for allowing her son, John, 17, an unlicensed driver, to operate her car. A charge of non-compliance with a learner's permit against her son was dismissed.

inquiry. Police found him lying on a sidewalk Sunday at 12:20 p.m. in front of 32 Leigh Avenue.

At a special hearing the same day, Judge Glen B. Miller Jr. suspended the sentence, provided the defendant commit himself to the alcoholism ward of Trenton State Hospital.

FAMILY IS IN NEED
Children Need Clothes. Six children need clothing so they can go to school and the whole family needs furniture so they can make a new start in life. Father, mother and six children came back home from New Jersey last week from an unsuccessful try at life in California. On the way back east, their trailer broke down and the father sold everything in the trailer to finance the rest of the trip.

The American Legion in Hightstown learned of his plight, and interrupted a Legion "Bingo Night" to ask for emergency aid.

Mrs. Irene Boccanfuso, of 36 Clearview Avenue in Princeton, was in Hightstown that evening and heard the plea. Anyone with boys' clothing for ages 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16 (the sixth child is a baby girl), can leave the garments at Mrs. Boccanfuso's home. Size 10 dresses for the mother, and size 38-40 clothing for the man are also welcome.

The used furniture is needed to furnish the apartment in Trenton acquired for the family by members of the Legion. Arrangements can be made by calling Mrs. Boccanfuso, 924-3318.

ZONERS GIVE HALF

In Linden Lane Case, The Borough Zoning Board last week gave half a lot to Savory Mangione, owner of the problem-plagued property at 43-45 Linden Lane. Four families live in two buildings on the property—in violation of zoning laws—and Mr. Mangione, who purchased the property in September, 1967, had requested they be allowed to stay.

The board recommended to Mayor and Council that necessary yard, area and coverage variances be granted to utilize the house at 43 Linden Lane as a two family dwelling—provided the one and one-half story structure in the rear be removed. The latter sprang from a three-car garage and divided in stages to a building 65 feet long which crosses the lot line. Moreover, it is placed the wrong way on the lot, cross way instead of up and down.

The board said the three-car garage could stay.

A. C. Reeves Hicks, attorney for Mr. Mangione, said that unless his client could rent all four units, he would not realize a proper return on his investment. He said the four apartment have existed for many years (the Zoning Board nor anyone else apparently knows when the extra or "bootleg" families arrived), and added that the density was the same as with the other dwellings in the area, most of them housing two families. "They fill a need for inexpensive housing," he said.

Nothing has been done about it," he added. "and the irony is that when somebody tries to improve them, it comes to a head. It's a mess." Mr. Mangione has plans to improve and renovate the properties but was waiting the outcome of the case.

Mr. Hicks also revealed that a suit has been filed in Superior Court of New Jersey against the former owner, Bernard Weinstein, charging fraud and misrepresentation.

A request by Mrs. Betty Boccanfuso, 175 Linden Lane, to the board to waive one off street parking space was denied. Mrs. Boccanfuso who operates the Princeton Town Delicatessen at 212 Nassau Street was informed by the board she needed the space because patrons were eating inside, changing the use from retail to restaurant.

Mrs. Boccanfuso, who only rents the first floor of the three story building, is unable to develop a rear yard for parking. Her attorney, Miss Patricia Slain, pointed out that the portion used for eating was a 4 x 6-foot space in the rear containing a table and chairs which customers recently had been using to enter there.

One parking space is required for each 50 square feet of eating space. The table and chairs, she said, have been there ever since Mrs. Boccanfuso took over the delicatessen five years ago.

Mrs. Boccanfuso described the group as "men and boys" and her husband and I have known all our lives. It's too friendly, I suppose."

The board, in saying no, decided not to compound the problem of inadequate parking available in the area. Just how little is available was pointed out by Michael Blazakis, owner of the Equire Luncheonette, 238 Nassau.

He said he had taken his own survey and for the 15-16 busi-

WOMAN OF THE WEEK
Lucy M. Caldwell, who returns this month to Vietnam for her fourth tour of duty as director of the Chiba Beach USO.

nesses between Pine and Chestnut Streets, there were five parking spaces on Nassau and no municipal lot. On the opposite side of Nassau, he said, there were about the same number of businesses and eight parking spaces. Furthermore, he said, no parking was allowed between 9 in the morning and 4 1/2 in the afternoon.

In another case, the board recommended to Mayor and Council that Westminster Choir College be granted a variance to build a 58-space parking lot in the old Franklin Avenue roadbed. Should the college receive approval from Mayor and Council, however, it still has many hurdles to clear.

Because the proposed lot straddles the Borough-Township line, the college must next obtain approval from the Township Site Review Board, the Township Zoning Board and Mayor and Committee.

The Christian Science Reading Room, 178 Nassau Street, was granted a variance to erect a sign at the rear of its premises. The board stipulated the variance would be limited to the present applicant.

A request by John P. Servis to build an office building fronting on 14 Harrison Street North was withdrawn. In a letter to Mayor and Council, Mr. Servis, an electrical contractor, wrote: "... we have withdrawn our application due to information which we have just received regarding the timing of the introduction before Bor-rough Council of the new proposed zoning ordinance which makes certain changes in the zoning map, and, at least in part, corrects, with respect to our property, some of the inequities which exist under the old ordinance." He added there would not be sufficient time to implement his proposal before the introduction of the new ordinance.

GRAND Opening

Saturday, October 5

Of our first branch store to be located on Rte. 206 N. at the Montgomery Shopping Center, Rocky Hill

AN IDEA

Three years ago, two former salesmen, Arthur and Bernie Seeman had an idea. Every store that was known to sell clothing at a reduced price, usually had inferior or mediocre merchandise. A so-called discounted item usually wasn't worth any more, and, as a matter of fact, was quite "expensive" because it never lasted.

Why not have this type of store but handle ONLY higher quality merchandise . . . at about 40% off. To get this merchandise at a price, we would handle designer original samples, overcutting and very select irregulars.

We wanted our store different in all ways from the typical store. We are proud of the fact that we have no trading stamps, gift wrapping, charge plans etc. All this saving is reflected in the price. Another feature which we are proud of is that we give refunds in 10 days with no questions asked. Credit slips which are common in most stores, don't exist here.

If you appreciate quality but don't want to pay the price, it's the Clothes Closet.

For Example:

- ... Famous Make Boy's Legging Suits
Reg. $30 to $35 OUR PRICE $17.99
- ... Girl's and Boy's Snowsuits
Reg. $20 to $30 OUR PRICE $12.99 to $16.99
- ... Famous Make Men's Button Down Dress Shirts
Reg. $8 (if perfect), OUR PRICE $3.99
- ... Famous Make Women's Fully-Lined Wool Skirts
Reg. $15 OUR PRICE $8.99

GRAND OPENING SPECIAL . . . SATURDAY, OCT. 5, ONLY

Next week you will see our men's raincoats selling at our regular low price of $24.95.

Saturday Only They Will Be $15.99

WEEK OF TRAINING SET
For Princeton Homemakers. The 1968 training session for the Princeton Community Homemaker Service will be held beginning Monday, in conjunction with the Hunterdon County Homemaker Service.

The five-day course will begin in Flemington, at the Baptist Church on Main Street, with a talk by Mrs. Samuel Danzing, a member of the Hunterdon County Service. Mrs. Gladys Cherack, a school social worker, will speak Monday morning on understanding children, followed in the afternoon by Mrs. L. Joan King, who will discuss "Working with People."

Moving to Princeton for its next three days, the program will feature talks by Miss Janet Alward of the Princeton Community Health Service, who will speak Tuesday on ambulatory and bed patients, followed Wednesday by a discussion of a baby's daily activities.

Thursday, Mrs. Morris Parmet will discuss mental illness during the morning session, and Mrs. Nancy Connor, a home economist, will give two lectures on food preparation. All lectures in Princeton will be given at Princeton Hospital.

The program will end Friday in Flemington, where Mrs. Mary Hausel will speak on care of the elderly, and Miss Peggy Wilson, another home economist, will discuss accident prevention and care of the home.

A United Fund agency, the Princeton Homemaker Service worked a total of 24,483 hours last year. Those interested in taking the training program should call Mrs. Elizabeth Craig, executive director of the organization, at 924-5862, to arrange transportation for the meetings in Flemington.

Why Should Bill Baird Spend 10 Years In Jail For Giving Away A Device Any Woman Can Buy Anywhere Without A Prescription?

William R. Baird, Founder and Director of Parents' Aid Society, has risked his freedom in three states fighting to protect you from unnecessary but legally sanctioned pain and tragedy.

Bill Baird's battle began four years ago when he witnessed the death of a 29-year-old mother, who had pierced her uterus with a wire coat hanger in a pitiful attempt to end her ninth pregnancy.

Appalled by this needless tragedy, Bill Baird gave up his $20,000-a-year job as the nation's youngest clinical director for a large, national birth control firm and founded the Parents' Aid Society.

Parents' Aid Society is a non-profit, tax deductible organization staffed solely by volunteers. None of the doctors, nurses, staff, or Bill Baird himself are paid. The clinic is open seven days a week from 7:00 a.m. until well past midnight.

Last April, 1967, Bill Baird went to Boston University to test the constitutionality of the archaic, 100-year-old Massachusetts birth control law, "Crimes Against Chastity." This law forbids the unmarried any rights to birth control information or materials.

Bill Baird lectured at Boston University to an audience of over 2,500 people. He displayed and explained the various methods of birth control. He was arrested and convicted and now faces a possible ten-year prison term. One five-year term is for showing the birth control pill, and the other five-year term is for giving an unmarried 22-year-old woman a non-prescriptive birth control device, the foam, to test her right to receive birth control devices.

The case is now before the State Supreme Court, and if the conviction is overturned, it will virtually wipe out all the laws on birth control throughout the United States, thus benefiting women of all states. But if the conviction is upheld, Bill Baird alone goes to jail.

Paid for by a concerned citizen of Princeton Township.

ART In Princeton

SEGAL WORK ON VIEW
 At Princeton Art Museum.
 In cooperation with the Creative Arts Program of Princeton University, the Art Museum's first seasonal exhibition is of the recent work by George Segal. Lecturer in Creative Arts in Sculpture for the ensuing year, 1968-69, four compositions, considered highly significant of his sculpture, are shown here through the courtesy of the Sidney Janis Gallery in New York City.

For some years, Mr. Segal has been a resident of North Brunswick where he has made his studio in an abandoned chicken farm. In the '50's, he was associated with the concept of "Happenings." Later his work was often labeled as "Pop Art," but, in the long run, his ideas seem best explained at a one-man show last spring at the Museum of Contemporary Art in Chicago as "Human Situations."

He starts with the most banal of life's situations, (a man leaving a bus, a woman washing her feet in a sink) and then, using the reality of the background, (an actual bus door) a porcelain sink) he places in position his plaster cast of a human figure. As has been suggested by others, these figures with their blunt contours and frozen movements are like the victims of Pompeii or exhumed mummies. Irretrievably caught in their gesture they stand ghostlike in their separate acts.

As usual at the Museum, the presentation is exceptional. The space and background have been managed so as to give the maximum opportunity to exhibit and view.

Mr. Segal's figures are set against flat black walls and rest right on the marble-tiled floor. There are only four exhibits.

First is a grouping begun as "The Costume Party" and worked into what appears here as "The Actors" whose figures, SCULPTOR'S WORK ON VIEW: An exhibit at the Lexington Gallery, 20 Texas Avenue, near the Lawrence Shopping Center, features the work of sculptor F. Richard Gerster. Mr. Gerster is currently working with Josef Brown, sculptor at Princeton University. Also represented in the exhibit, which runs through October, is commercial artist Robert Salomon.

In white or color, are each remote in his own character and attitude. "The Moviehouse" is a representational construction of a booth rooded in a myriad of tiny light bulbs. Encased within is a lumpy figure making an unchanging picture of monotony.

"The Photo booth" expresses another common occurrence in similar terms. The last, and definitely the most haunting and interesting is "Execution," a composition of four plaster white bodies, one hanging from a wall already pierced by bullets whose victims lie heavy in death on the floor.

This is said to have been inspired by Masaccio's rendering of the death of St. Paul and the second part of Allen Kaprow's "Calling," which was performed in New Brunswick. The implications of this are too horrible and poignant to miss, and one is more likely to become involved here than in the other works which describe common isolations of life today in the background of that life's immediacy.

The show continues through November 3d, Museum hours are 10 to 4 Tuesday through Saturday and from 2 to 4 on Sunday.

NEW HOPE ANNUAL

Phillips Mill Art Association. The annual exhibition of the Phillips Mill Art Association in New Hope, Pa., will be open to the public on weekdays from 1 to 5 and on Sundays from 1 to 6 through October 26. Among the exhibitors are several Princeton area artists, including Helga Neergaard, Harry McCandless, Peter Cook and Ann Gross, whose "La Dolce Vita" was awarded the Patrons' Prize for Graphics.

ness of the law, the ordinance argued that the ordinance should have a section written into it limiting the number of times the curfew could be imposed. In quoting a passage from a book, he compared the suspension of civil liberties in the ordinance to a tactic employed by Hitler to gain control of Germany.

This proved to be too much for two residents favoring the law. One asked if it was the ACLU that had defended the hippies who had been waving Viet Cong flags, and another read from a document stating that a California committee on Un-American activities had declared the ACLU to be a communist front organization.

The firearms range was also hotly debated, before it, too, received unanimous approval from Committee. Mayor Huff commented that its main purpose was to provide a place for township patrolmen to practice. Police later testified that the Mercer County Workhouse range, where they had been shooting, was inadequate.

Committee member Theodore A. Pierson III pointed out that the range is 90% complete at the moment, with most of the work paying being done by the township's road department. He added that it would be one of the best-designed ranges in the state.

Most of the opposition came from parents who felt the range would induce more youngsters to take up guns. Others felt the money could be put to better use for some more popular form of recreation. Mayor Huff emphasized that no specific programs and rules for the range had been worked out, but that police of the town would supervise instruction there on a volunteer basis.

'EAGLE EYES' FORMED
To insure honest voting, Sandra M. Jefferson, 9 Aiken Avenue, has been appointed chairman of "Operation Eagle Eyes," a 200-man group to watch polling places where voting irregularities have occurred in past elections.

Miss Jefferson and her associates plan to recruit and train volunteers, primarily business men, from Mercer County's 13 municipalities, "to insure voting accuracy and honesty in every polling place."

The former vice chairman and chairman of the Princeton Young Republicans, Sandra Jefferson is currently president of the Pennington Play-ers, she has also served as state chairman of the Young Republicans and an advisor to the Princeton Hospital Candy Strippers.

HOPEWELL ADOPTS LAW

On Riot Control, Hopewell Township Committee passed its riot control ordinance Thursday night and approved the transfer of $3,000 for completion of a firearms range, after a standing-room-only crowd had engaged in lengthy and sometimes emotional debate over the merits of both.

The riot control ordinance, adopted unanimously, gives the mayor power to impose a curfew, close businesses, streets, and make other rules in case of riots or natural disaster. Speaking in its support, Mayor Lester Huff pointed out that state law does not fully cover Hopewell Township and that it should be equipped to meet an emergency before one arose.

He added that the Committee did not expect any outbreaks of violence in the township, but that the ordinance would help in case mobs in neighboring communities spilled over into Hopewell Township. Hopewell borders on Ewing and Lawrence, both of which had curfews in effect during the disturbances in Trenton.

Township attorney Edward Meredith explained that such an ordinance was much preferable to having the mayor act without one, and risk the possibility of a suit being brought against him by owners who lost money when their businesses were closed down.

The Mercer County chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, represented by Hopewell resident Robert Vorsester, had attacked the vague-

CARGILE TO SPEAK

On Enforcing Civil Rights
C. B. Cargile Jr., former supervisor of employment and public accommodation for the New Jersey State Division on Civil Rights, will discuss "Civil Rights: The Problem of Enforcement," in a speech Thursday, October 10, at 8 p.m. in McCosh 10 at the Princeton University campus.

Now with the Department of Community Affairs, Mr. Cargile will first speak on the broad aspect of civil rights enforcement, then talk about dealing with problems on a local level.

FEDERAL LAB MOVES

To Princeton Site, A 60-member laboratory conducting government research in meteorology relocated this week on Princeton University's campus, settling in a three-level, $2.1 million building.

The group, the Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Laboratory, under the U. S. Department of Commerce, was previously based in Washington, D. C. It uses two Univac 1108 computers an average of 22 hours a day, to predict global weather patterns from three to 21 days in advance.

According to Dr. Joseph Smagorinsky, director of the GFDL, the laboratory hopes to extend the predictions to cover a month or season, by forecasting behavior of both the atmosphere and the oceans, which both contribute to weather conditions.

Other areas of study for the lab may include work in large scale air and water pollution, proposals for climate modifications and mathematical studies of solar and planetary atmospheres and the interior of the earth.

INVESTMENT COURSE SET

At Princeton YMCA, A four-session Tuesday evening seminar on "Understanding Investments" will begin October 8 at 8 p.m. in the Princeton YMCA, open to both men and women. Registration may be made this week at the YMCA.

Donald F. O'Brien, an account executive with Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, will conduct the course, to include discussion of types of securities, operation of the exchange, financial reports and investment yields.

Why I Plan to Vote

REPUBLICAN

By Alan C. Poole

DEMOCRATIC

By William H. Branson

Inevitably when one examines the Presidential candidates they must be some degree affiliates themselves with the Administrations they served as Vice Presidents. On this count Richard Nixon rates much higher. The Eisenhower Administration ended the Korean War, prevented serious Communist threats in both the Middle East and Formosa and took the first major step toward the integration of schools when the National Guard was sent to Arkansas to enforce Civil Rights legislation. Mr. Nixon not only was a part of that Administration but was given a more important role in its activities than any other Vice President in history. One questionably he learned a great deal about the Communist threat and how to deal with it. His opponent served with an Administration that got us impossibly involved in the Vietnam War, almost caused the devaluation of the dollar through irresponsible fiscal responsibility and has been in office during the worst crime record in our history.

As the Vietnam War and its termination is of prime concern today this issue should receive paramount attention. In this writer supported Nixon in this publication in 1960 and one point he brought out was that the Eisenhower Administration was correct in "sweeping the Vietnam situation under the rug."

And this been done the South Vietnamese would be no worse off today and the United States would have had no more than a handful of advisors involved in this conflict. The late President Kennedy finally realized the futility of the Vietnam situation and we did not get fully and irrevocably involved until the Johnson Administration under the Tonkin Resolution fully advocated by Vice President Humphrey at that time.

It is convenient to accommodate one-self to the voice of the populace and Mr. Humphrey is rapidly deserting his leader to accomplish this objective. To date, however, he has offered no worthwhile proposal.

His concept that the United Nations can take over the policing of the world, relieving the United States of this responsibility, is completely impractical when it is recalled that the United States supported over 90% of the so called United Nations' Korean effort; that it espoused itself to a vicious intelligence ring within the United Nations that virtually made final victory impossible; and that it was restricted by the United Nations from bombing north of the Yalu River which action could have achieved complete victory in Korea and eliminated such hazards to international peace as the Pueblo incident or the frequent border incidents that take place between North Korea and South Korea today.

Mr. Nixon, on the other hand, became conversant with the Cold War in Europe under the Eisenhower Administration and is well qualified today to meet the crises imposed by the invasion of Czechoslovakia and the threats made against Western Germany. Because of his training under General Eisenhower he is also in a better position to bargain effectively and bring an honorable end to the Vietnam War.

The social problem in this country, particularly with reference to the poverty and race situations, is a very serious one and not to be ignored. On this point it would appear that Vice President Humphrey is better qualified to cope with this problem than Mr. Nixon. A clear examination reveals otherwise. Only a few days ago Mr. Humphrey advocated increasing Social Security pay

Hubert Humphrey and the Democratic Party are worried about the problems of the cities. They know that the war in Vietnam is eating up the men, money, and resources that should be used to begin on solutions to these problems. They know the solutions won't come cheap.

Solving the problems of our cities will take (a) maintaining full employment, (b) changing the government's spending priorities so that the crisis at home takes precedence over military demands and (c) recognizing that the beginnings of that Administration but was a solution to our domestic crisis won't come cheap. The Democrats understand these things the Republicans don't. So vote Democratic!

The Democrats say that we need to develop programs that will provide a job for anyone who can work and a decent income for anyone who can't. So do the Republicans. But you can't provide these jobs when the national economy is running at 6% unemployment!

The first requirement is full employment, and the difference between the Republicans and Democratic records is startling on this point. In the 7 years from 1953-60, while Nixon was Vice President, the Republicans raised the unemployment rate to 7%—nearly 3 million men and women were out of work when they left office in 1961.

Since then the unemployment rate has been reduced to 3.5%—halved—by the Democratic Administration. Under the Democratic Administration over 10 million jobs have been added in the economy with unemployment falling by 2 million.

From 1953-60 four million jobs were added with unemployment rising by 2 million! —Continued On Page 24

To the Editor of Town Topics:
"Wait!" until next year.
"Wait!" says West Windsor's School Board President Craig in a recent issue of TOWN TOPICS. "Wait!" says President Craig last month.
"Wait!" said Craig six months ago in reference to a site location for the proposed high school two years ago. Wait for what?

How many locations are available for school sites as proposed by the much worked over township master plan? Or will the many hours spent by many good men for the plan be ignored and then cited in the "boondocks".

Since Princeton High School asked West Windsor to vacate by 1970, what has our elected school board done besides have someone else do a costly survey for them, have some meetings and now form a super sub-sub committee.

In all the time, have real estate prices remained stationary—say two years ago, a year ago or the whopping increase after the reevaluation? How high will land values skyrocket next year, and do we know that all the school committees will come to any decision by 1969 or 1970?

Since I am sure to be accused of not attending meetings and getting answers to my questions, let me say that I should not have if the Organizational Sub-Committee and the elected school board are working for the public. Township residents should not have to run to every meeting and wind-up like Supt. Fred Walton who gave his heart to the school board. If township residents are not informed why not use the "Newsletter" which is crying for news?

Self-Appointed Censor.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Fifteen minutes after someone from PAHR had put up an announcement on the A and P bulletin board, concerning a talk on civil rights, it had been removed presumably by someone whose soul is very sick.

In effect, this was an act of self-appointed censorship and so for those who never had a chance to see that poster at the A and P, I would like to let them know that Mr. C. B. Cargile, Jr., recently of the state Division of Civil Rights, will be speaking at McCosh 10 on the University campus, Thursday, October 10, at 8 p.m. His subject will be "Civil Rights: Problems of Enforcement," and he will also be speaking of the role a local Human Relations Commission can play, subjects which should be of current interest to all of us, including candidates and local officials.

The meeting is co-sponsored by the Mercer County chapter, American Civil Liberties Union, Princeton Association for Human Rights and the Princeton League of Women Voters.

ments by 80%. Obviously this would be a great expense to the government and would divert funds more vitally needed for urban renewal and poverty programs.

Mr. Humphrey has the unrealistic concept that he can buy ourselves out of any crisis we may face. Yet it was only a little over six months ago that the United States came closest to a devaluation of the dollar since its last official devaluation in 1933. History has proven that a devaluation has seriously harmed a vast majority of the population with only the economically privileged classes untouched because they have the financial resources and know how to hedge against the inflation of the dollar. Hence Mr. Humphrey in attempting to save the poor by a tax-cutting program could seriously threaten economically a much wider segment of the population.

Mr. Nixon is aware of the poverty and the race problems. Necessary propaganda from irresponsible sources he is not going to March troops into an infiltrate the colored and the poor. On the contrary, he stated specifically in his low speech that he would call on the best qualified people regardless of race, color, creed or political affiliation to implement a program to improve the lot of the underprivileged.

Like any true American he is well aware of this problem but he wishes to solve it in a manner that will benefit and not hurt the country as a whole and the overall economy.

Some people claim that the election of Richard Nixon would bring discontent and accelerate violent activities among minority groups. If the majority of the people elect Mr. Nixon as their next leader, they should support his actions in suppressing violent groups unwilling to present their cause through democratic processes. In no case should the voters cater to the minority because the majority should make the final decision.

As a leader and man of courage, proven by his determination following his defeats in the 1960 Presidential election and 1962 gubernatorial elections, with the "guts" to deal with the Communist threat to the world and the ability, training and willingness to blend the economic and social problems of this country, I urge

Democrat

How can you possibly begin to attack the problems of the ghettoes if the economy can't provide employment for its highly skilled, unionized workers?

It won't do to say all this has changed; the Republicans will do better this time. From 1933-60 we had three of our recessions since World War II. From 1933-60 the Republicans gave us about the same price rise as the Democrats. The GOP managed to double the unemployment rate!

Getting at the roots of the urban problems, which surely include massive underemployment in the ghetto, will take an economic policy designed to keep unemployment down so those retrained and new workers can find jobs. The Democrats see that; the Republicans don't.

The deepening crisis in the cities will require a redirection of our priorities away from military spending toward domestic programs. More than this, it will require an Administration that will redirect the $20 billion that can be gained from stopping the war toward domestic ends, not a renewed arms race. And it will take a President who can reach some agreement with the Soviet Union on the first steps of nuclear control, so that we don't spend that next $40 billion chunk of the budget funds on a self-defeating antiballistic missile system.

The Democrats know these things; the Republicans don't. The hard line of Nixon on foreign affairs would lead to increasing defense expenditures in two ways. First, given the present state of affairs between the U. S. and the Soviet Union, he would spend more on expensive new nuclear weapons systems.

Second, by taking a hard line in world affairs, he will encourage the Soviet Union to escalate the arms race, calling all of you as American citizens to support Richard Nixon who will bring this country out of the morass created by the past Administration.

for a U.S. response. With our cities in a mess we can't afford a new escalation of the arms race.

I think Hubert Humphrey knows this. He has been a longtime friend of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, and he will take a very hard look at new defense requests. Moreover, he will redirect the energy and attention of the government more toward our growing domestic problems and less toward generating a perilous and noisy confrontation with the Soviets.

Solution to our urban problems will cost — money, resources, time. The Democrats recognize this; the Republicans don't. Nixon says it can't — give business a tax credit and it won't cost anything.

Somehow we can increase defense spending, solve the urban crisis, and still cut the budget! This is obvious nonsense and an insult to the voters' intelligence.

Humphrey realizes that beginning work on the urban problem will not be cheap. He proposes to involve business by giving a tax credit that won't look like an expenditure in the budget. We cannot expect to solve serious problems at no expense.

Every American voter knows this. The Democrats know this. But the Republicans want us to believe it isn't so.

To solve the urban crisis and to end the war are the two tasks of the next Administration. The Democrats have shown that they see the size of the problems and realize their difficulty.

These are the first steps to solution, steps the Republicans haven't taken yet. That's why when the choice comes down to Nixon or Humphrey, I'll vote Democrat.

For War Memorial. An interim financial report on the War Memorial at Mercer and Section Streets, released last week by committee treasurer Charles R. Some 165 individual contributions and gifts from 33 businesses and organizations have accounted for $9,819. Original estimates for the memorial came to about $6,000, but excavation work proved far more costly than was expected.

BUSINESS In Princeton

CLOTHES CLOSET HERE:
To Open Saturday Morning.
The dream of every woman
shopper is quality merchandise
at a lower price.

This is the promise of The Clothes Closet, which will open its doors for the first time Saturday morning at 9 with a ribbon cutting ceremony newly joined by Montgomery Township Mayor Otto Kaufman.
The Princeton area's newest — and in some ways most unusual — apparel store is located in the Montgomery Shopping Center, Route 206 and 518 in Rocky Hill.

The Clothes Closet and a similar store in Matawan are the brainchild of two former salesmen, Arthur and Bernard Seeman. "There is a definite need here for a store like ours,
one that caters to discriminating shoppers, those interested in wearing only the finest apparel for men, women and children," said Bernard See-
man. In saying that, The Clothes Closet meets that need.
Mr. Seeman reported that he and his brother had converted much of New Jersey before selecting Rocky Hill for their second store.

How can the Clothes Closet sell its high priced merchandise at savings few stores can match? Mr. Seeman explains:
"We will carry Designer original samples, inventory over-stocks, and very select imitations." To keep prices low, the store offers no credit plan, no
stamp plans, no gift wrappings
— all this saving is reflected in the price," said Mr. See-man.

Another policy: refunds in 10 days with no questions asked.
"Credit slips do not exist here,"
said Mr. Seeman.

The Seeman brothers started their first store in Matawan three and one-half years ago on a part time basis. Soon the tail began to wag the dog, and they left their positions as salesmen to devote full time to The Clothes Closet.

Question Of The Week

Question: Have you been surprised by the extent of the popular appeal for George Wallace, and what do you think accounts for it?

Where asked: Palmer Square

William Bovino, Princeton Pike, butcher for Hill's Market, Witherspoon Street: Not a bit surprised. Maybe it's because he's telling the truth about the way things are in this country. This is what we need. We need a change.

Erwin Meissner, West Windsor, sales clerk at Hill's Market: He feels that he's the right man for law and order in the country, and I tend to agree. I'd much rather vote for Wallace than Humphrey. Surprised at his popularity? No, not at all.

Mrs. Marion O'Reilly, Trenton, employee, Princeton Bank and Trust: I like to listen to his talks; I think he makes a lot of sense. He comes across. But I'm not sure if I would vote for him. Just what he's saying I think accounts for it. He's saying things that a lot of people want to hear. I think I could be swayed by him. In a way, I am surprised at how much he has gained, though.

Salvatore Balestrieri, West Windsor, custodian, Princeton University: I think Wallace is a very good man. The way I hear him talking is he is trying to help the poor people live better, and to have strict laws and not give too much liberty to the kids, the ones that are running around loose. I think he's saying the government should enforce the laws and not let people go around and rob one another. I think if he's going to be president it would be a big help to the whole population of the country. He's made a lot of progress in the past few months. Humphrey and Nixon—all they do is argue and try to get the people to believe one is better than the other. Wallace isn't against anyone. He just wants to do what he thinks is best for the country.

Nathaniel Sullivan, 5 Harris Road, employee, Borough Engineering Department: I don't think too much of Wallace for president. He might be a good man in the Cabinet or some other place but not president. Yes, I am surprised. Quite surprised. I don't agree with his policy. I think he is going a little bit too far overboard. I think he's got to do what the southern people want him to do. If he lived in the North, I believe he'd be just the opposite. He might make a good man if he lived here. I really don't think he's a hard shell southerner myself.

Scott Caythol, Trenton, maintenance man, Princeton, Aviation: In a sense, yes; in a sense, no. In my opinion, I think he's a little crazy, but with the Negro population asking for this and for that, I can understand people supporting Wallace. They figure a vote for Wallace is a vote to stop this nonsense—which it is.

I think he'll take votes from both sides but not enough to affect the outcome.

David Tolman, 1940 Hall, graduate student, chemistry: Somewhat surprised. I think it's due largely to a disenchantment with the whole system of modern life. People are used to many different kinds of things. People who grew up on farms, when there wasn't such a demand for education—those who I classify as not in the mainstream of change, who look upon the world as basically the same as it was 30-40 years ago... for these people the world is moving faster than they can adjust to. I think Wallace appeals to a simplistic solution to our problems which I don't think is tenable but which nonetheless has its appeal.

Mrs. E. C. Crawford, 132 Harris Road, housewife: I tend to judge the popular appeal of anyone from people I know, from my own experiences and my own surroundings, and I don't know of anyone who is for Wallace. Maybe he has appeal in other sections. I don't know. Perhaps this is one of the dangers—not being aware. Whatever appeal Wallace may have, yes, I'm surprised.

Jack Mowery, Los Angeles, Calif., sales manager: No, not really. I think it is just the end of a cycle. I'm from California and it's just like the Brown Reagen thing... people go for a period of time and they want a change. The more difficult the period, then the more radical the change they want. I think Wallace is a radical change from what we've been used to. There will always be some people—I think lesser informed people—who feel change will solve problems. One other thing. People fear what they don't understand. They don't understand the racial problems in this country. They fear them and they think Wallace is going to protect them from it.

TIGERS HAVE PROBLEMS

Where Few Were Expected. The best thing that could be said for Princeton's football team after its extremely disappointing performance against Rutgers was that it lost to an opponent which played very well. The worst thing to be said is that the Tigers did little or nothing to justify the aura of optimism surrounding the start of their 1968 season and that, until they do, there may be a need to re-evaluate their presumed status as an Ivy contender.

In being rather thoroughly outshined by the Scarlet, whose 20 to 14 triumph was its first in Palmer Stadium in seven years, Princeton lost to a foe which took charge at the outset, did not make a single costly mistake and was so completely in control near the end that it could afford to give up a meaningless touchdown. During the action, Rutgers forced a number of breaks in the crushing items were two fumbles and three interceptions, taking advantage of each as they came to tighten the leash on the Tiger.

Despite the painful awareness that the team's ability fell markedly short of opening day expectation, Princeton should have little difficulty with such par Columbia on Saturday. The Lions were 36 to 14 losers to Lafayette last weekend, and,

TIGERS' FIRST: Fullback Ellis Moore covered seven yards on this second-period touchdown play against Rutgers, evading Scarlet linebacker Larry Glymes (43) to go into the end zone unopposed. Play cut visitors' early lead to 16-7 but Rutgers won, 20-14, for first time in seven years.

appear to have little chance of ending the skid of defeats upset.

This gives the Tigers one more week to prepare for the tough contest with Dartmouth at Hanover. They have not won the third game on their schedule (alternately played with Cornell and the Indians) since 1965, and ability to do so this season will now come as an Colman's estimate "could never run four plays in a row without making a terrible mistake."

Defense Fell Almost Flat.

Although it produced more first downs than Rutgers (23 to 17) and ran for 294 yards against the length Scarlet defense, Princeton lost because it could check while the outcome was not sustain an attack. Starting still in doubt. It was, however, 11 interceptions in the offensive the passing game that fell flat, the Tigers in Dick apart almost completely: of the dozen that Princeton threw eight were completed—five by the Tigers and three by Rutgers for the costliest kind of interceptions.

In the first half, the Orange and Black not only failed to gain a single yard in the air but actually lost its appetite for passing after the first pitch that Rich Bracken made was picked off by Rutgers' big line-backer, Rich Bing. Time and again, it was apparent that the only way to play catch-up football was to throw, but the Tigers largely chose to stay grounded.

Bracken was three for nine on his passing and was charged with two interceptions. Reserve tailback Scott MacBean completed two of three but also had one picked off, while sophomore Brian McCullough, whose passing potential is rated unusually high, never had a pass called for him.

Defense in Trouble, Too. Disappointment over the performance by the defensive platoon in allowing Rutgers to build up a 17½-half time lead was also a part of the bitter cup of defeat served up to Tiger followers, but it was here that considerable rebuilding had been done and surprise at a spotty first game performance was not as great. Nonetheless, the visitors got away with far more than was justifiable in the form of shoddy pass defense debited to Princeton.

Rugers' second TD was strictly of the Christmas-came early variety, quarterback Bruce Van Ness breaking away from two tacklers and throwing a wobbly aerial just before he hit Princeton's Mel Brown. No Princetonian was within ten yards of the receiver as he caught the ball on the four and jogged in for the touchdown.

It was the inability of the defense to contain Rutgers following the opening kickoff that put Princeton on a hot griddle right away. With Van Ness and the fleet Bryant Mitchell putting the ball in motion on all but one of the first 13 plays, the visitors reached the Tigers' 17, from where Jim Julian booted a 25-yard field goal. "We chose to kick with a good wind at our backs," Colman said, "because we felt we could stop them and get good field position."

The first interception of a Bracken pass followed and half a dozen plays later, it was 10-0 for the jubilant Scarlet fans. Never in the 99 years since the rivalry started had Rutgers put ten points on the board in the first quarter against Princeton.

With MacBean at tailback and Moore running well through the middle, the Tigers erased part of the deficit mid-way. Through the second quarter by going 76 yards in 13 plays. Moore covered the final seven to put Princeton on the board at 8-17.

Less than three minutes later, however, Rutgers capped a 75-yard march with the gift touchdown on the pass to Brown, and the Tigers were deeper in trouble. A 50-yard mid game by soccer-style artist Chris Stewart (longest in Rutgers' history) raised the margin to 20-7 after Princeton.

final quarter. Even at that moment, there were better than 12 minutes left and a take-charge Princeton offense might conceivably have scored twice to bail out the shaky defense with a 21-20 triumph. The offense, however, wasn't ready to take charge, and it is on the extent to which it can realize its potential that the fate of the 1968 season now hangs.

Columbia Disappoints, Too. Hopes for a renaissance in Columbia football with the arrival on the scene of Frank Navarro to succeed Buff Donelli were set back last week with the loss to Lafayette. The lightly-regarded visitors kept quarterback Marty Domres from completing a single pass in the first half, and the Lions were never in contention after trailing at the intermission, 14-0.

QUICK LOOK AT COLUMBIA

OFFENSE: Having trouble building under new coaching regime. Quarterback Marty Domres' passing made him Ivy League's total offense leader in 1967, but running game is negligible.

DEFENSE: Had more trouble with Lafayette last week than anticipated, and will be overmatched by Princeton single wing.

CHIEF ASSET: Potentially strong passing game that can hit from all distances when functioning properly. Tigers will need strong pass rush.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Need to adjust to new coaching procedures, plus Columbia's perennial shortage: adequate manpower on both platoons.

TYPE OF ATTACK: Multiple T with variations, including I, slot and tight wing.

A year ago at Baker Field, Columbia gave the Orange and Black all sorts of fits with the passing combination of Domres and end Bill Wazevich. The Lions led, 7-0, caught up at 14-all before half-time and were in the game until a fourth period TD by Bob Weber made it a 28-14 final.

That was the day that Wazevich set a Columbia and Ivy record with a dozen receptions for 214 yards. If the Princeton defense keeps the Domres-Wazevich combination from approaching this sort of performance Saturday, it will be a sign of improvement, but the third game at Hanover still looms a far more difficult problem for the Tigers than had seemed likely a week ago.

PHS NEEDS EWING WIN

After Disappointing Opener. What better way to prove it has something than to defeat Ewing Saturday? The Blue Devils haven't lost a game since they were defeated a year ago by Princeton High School.

There's no getting around it. The Little Tigers looked bad in losing 27-7 to Hamilton, in their opener last week. Very bad. "It was our worst game

Ivy League Forecast

Princeton over Columbia. On running game.

Penn over Brown. Quakers' passing superior.

in quite a few years, really," said a stunned Dick Wood, PHS coach.

"We'll have something figured out for Ewing. We'll be better next week," he promised. The game will be played at Ewing, starting at 11.

Ewing, 7-1 last year for its best effort ever, was not overly impressive either in defeating St. Anthony's last week, 18-13. The Blue Devils are led by Tom Pratt, a fine runner, but it was junior Dave Dial, a surprise starter at quarterback who grabbed a good share of the honors. He completed seven of 10 passes for 102 yards to set up Ewing's first two touchdowns, and he directed the team with a calm assurance.

It wasn't so much that PHS was outplayed by Hamilton that hurt as it was the failure to show any signs of improvement. "We just got worse as the game went on," said Wood.

The third quarter is a good illustration. Down, 14-7, at the half, PHS was going to have to come back strong to make a game of it. Instead, it had the ball for six plays. Of those two were for no gain, one lost, and one brought a costly fumble.

The fourth quarter was a carbon copy of the third — poorly thrown passes, runners thrown for losses, a fumbled ball on the 11, Hamilton recovering and driving in for its fourth score. The team had the ball for about eight plays in all in that period.

Every department earned a minus score. Tony Arcaro was three for 11 in passing with two interceptions. The punting was mediocre — Princeton's first kick was high and into the wind and netted the team three yards. The ball-handling in the backfield was sloppy.

"We Can't Stop Them." The line play both offensively and defensively just wasn't there. "Three scrimmages and no one runs against us. We come down here and we can't stop them," said a bewildered Tom Murray, defensive coach.

The measure of Hamilton's disdain for the PHS defense was evident in its first three points after touchdown. Using simple power slants off tackle, the Hornets went in easily every time. "They don't even bother faking it," said a disgruntled onlooker after Hamilton's third PAT. The Hornets tried a kick the fourth time.

PHS was in the game only in the first quarter, which ended 7-7.

Hamilton scored first with 4:52 remaining when Carl Holbig, who had a field day running against the visitors, scored from nine yards out. A fumble by Johnny Madden on the moments after a Bob Cooper tackle on fourth down had stopped Hamilton's first drive on the 16.

A Hamilton fumble on its own 31, recovered by Barry Hoenninger, set up Princeton's lone score. In three running plays, Cooper and Hoenninger led the ball to the 15 for the team's first first down. After an incomplete pass and a no gain, Arcaro took Cooper wide open near the goal line with 1:04 remaining. It was his first completion. The play was a dandy, the whole flow going to the right with Cooper drifting out from his wingback position in the opposite direction. Chris Gartner kicked the PAT.

Hamilton used up most of the second quarter, scoring with 3:45 remaining. The ball carrier this time was Tony Crupi. Together, he and Hoenninger ran through the PHS defense with dismaying regularity. A 23-yard TD romp by Hoenninger in the quarter had been nullified by a clipping penalty. Madden's fumble on the PHS 36 started Hamilton on its third touchdown. Holbig lunging the ball over. The home

PDS OFFENSE READY FOR HUN: Last year in its opening game against Hun, Princeton Day School scored first but never again and lost 13-7. Friday against the Red and Black the offense hopes to score first again and enlists from there. team was off winging for its end of the season. Wood was still puzzling over the disintegration of his team a day later. "I don't know whether it was stage fright or what," he said.

"We felt we looked pretty good in scrimmages this year, but a lot of boys didn't produce the way we thought they would," He said that he would wait until he had examined films of the game before deciding whether he would make any personnel changes.

So completely did the Hamilton offense and defense dominate the game — Hamilton Coach Dave Bryan said that he was pleased with both — it was difficult to tell whether the Hornets were that good or PHS that had.

"We Made Mistakes," Wood had no doubt, however. "Hamilton isn't that good," he said, immediately after the Hornets were that good or PHS that had. "He added: 'I'd like to play them again at the School with a determination to accomplish something no varsity Panther squad has yet been able to do — defeat the Red and Black in varsity competition. The contest will be played on PDS's new field. Hun has won every game where the two schools have competed on the varsity level. They met on the football field for the first time last year on a hot, muggy afternoon, with Hun overcoming a 7-0 deficit to capture a 13-7 triumph.

We're one-fifth Rambler, and all the rest is new.

There was a time when all we made were Ramblers.

And, those Ramblers made our image. With the predictable result that we got a reputation for building dependable, little cars that were high on economy and low on sex appeal.

We still make the Rambler. It's a smarter buy than it ever was. But it's no Javelin.

When American Motors can build a hot, sporty car that out-sports the other sporty cars, that's news.

So far, more than 45,000 sporty-car drivers have decided that the Javelin is a better car for the money.

The Ambassador SST 4-door sedan is our luxury car. It comes with standard air-conditioning, standard V-8, standard automatic transmission, optional velour seats, a long, long wheelbase for an elegant limousine ride, and an astonishingly low price for the package.

We also make the Rebel.

The Rebel is the family car that dared to cross the treacherous Baja peninsula. Most of the specially equipped cars that start this trip never finish. The Rebel did. But, if anything changes our image, it will be the AMX, our two-seater sports car.

The AMX, specially equipped and modified, has set 106 American, national and international speed records.

At this point, it looks like our image will never survive.

Paioe Wins Golf Title

Bill Paine won the 1968 championship of the Springfield Golf Club Sunday, defeating Bill Quackenbush in a 36-hole match, 5 and 3.

Quackenbush birdied the first hole in the morning round with a 3 to go 1 up, but Paine was 2 up at the end of the first round. He increased his lead to 5 up at the lunch break. His medal score for the first 18 was 77.

Paine maintained his margin during the afternoon round, sinking a 15-foot putt on the 15th for a birdie 2 to close out the match. He succeeded Art Schwartz, now champion at Bedens Brook, as the men's titleholder at Springdale.

their lack of adequate reserve strength all worked against them. This year, these factors may not play as formidable a part, but Red and Black's ability is good enough to cust it in the role of favorite again.

Halfback Dick Mate set up both Hun's scores last year with his fine outside running, and he'll have to be contained this time, if the Panthers hope to stop Hun. At 210 fullback Jim Kogelner should provide power up the middle.

Hun has had to replace some of the line that made it almost impossible for PDS to run inside, and the disparity in weight will be narrowed considerably. However, the Panther linemen will have to hit hard to open holes for the backs.

The Blue and White's overall ability is hard to determine. The potential is there, and at times it is fully utilized. In two hours of scrimmaging against a good Hightstown team Saturday, the defense at times stopped the opposition's offense cold, while the offense steadily ground out the yardage. However, both were also guilty of lackluster performances just as often.

In the Hun game, coach Dan Barren will have about sixteen players seeing action on both offense and defense, while retaining some good replacements on the sidelines to rest his starters.

The offensive line will have Jack Kilgore at center, Lew Bowers and Carl Jacobelli at guards, Keith Bash and Calvin Johnson at tackle, and Ashby Adams and Tom Spain at end. The only backfield position Barren has definitely decided upon is fullback, where Terry Booth will start. Either Kirk Moore or Rick Judge will start at tailback, Tony Dale or Crichton Adams at halfback and Erik Heggen or Craig Page at quarterback.

On defense, Kilgore will start at middle guard, Bash and Ashby Adams at tackle, David Claghorn and Crichton Adams at end, Booth, Bowers, Judge and Spain at linebacker, and Peter McCandless and Heggen or Dale at the safety positions.

HUN READY FOR PDS
With Good First Team. "We have one good starting team. After that it drops off fast in size and experience."

Hun coach Hawley Waterman feels, however, that his starting eleven will be able to win the season's opener Friday against its town rival, Princeton Day School. This second meeting of the two schools will be played on PDS's new football field behind the school starting at 3:30.

"It will be a hard game and we'd like to win, naturally," commented Waterman. "But I don't think we put quite the importance on it they do. I'd hate to win the first and lose the rest."

"It's not THAT important, but, as I said, we'd like to win it and I think we will."

"Rigor's gone," continued Waterman, referring to PDS's fine quarterback last season, Bill Rigor, who graduated in June. "He's the one who hurt us last year, who made it a good game. Whoever takes his place, if he's better . . . well, it will be a sad day for us."

Hun won last year, in large measure through its superior size. PDS, which outplayed Hun in the first half wore it, sell out trying to move against a Hun line that averaged well over 200 pounds. "This year we will be more normal in size," reported Waterman.

"Last year we had 22 men over 200, this year we have six." The depth that Hun enjoyed last year is missing most noticeably in the line.

Of Hun's six returning 200 pounders, the two biggest are tackle Dow Davies (260) and Dirk Whitehead (225).

Co-captain Doug Townsend, who should emerge as one of the top guards in the Penn-

Jersey League this year, is also above 200, while Joe Casloro, the other guard, is 199.

Rossi Out For Season. Hun suffered a setback when starting end Mike Rossi broke his shoulder and was lost for the season. "This is one spot where we expected to be strong," said Waterman. "Now we just have to hope that we can find someone to take over." He named Richard Ziegler as Rossi's replacement.

Offsetting Rossi's departure is the expected return this fall of Nat Williams and Greg Hirst. Williams was lost with a broken arm, Hirst with a broken shoulder last year.

The backfield, led by Co-captain Dick Mate, is set. "It will probably end up better — Continued on Next Page

News Of The CHURCHES

THREE CHURCHES JOIN For School of Mission. "Mission Approaches in Trenton" will be discussed at the School of Mission to be held at 7 p.m. this Sunday by the three West Windsor churches.

Speaking in Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church will be representatives of each denomination, Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist, working in Trenton. The participating churches are Dutch Neck, Prince of Peace Lutheran and Princeton Baptist at Penns Neck.

Reuben Jensen is moderator. The meeting is a development of the school of mission held last January when the theme was "The Mission of the Church in West Windsor." A "Continuing" series of laymen and pastors was formed as a result of that study to consider joint ministry to the community. The combined youth program last summer was a result.

Sunday's speakers are the Rev. Carol Tripp of Clinton Avenue Baptist Church, Kenneth Shurt of Lutheran Church of the Redeemer and Donald Boardman of the East Trenton Community Center.

Dessert will be served and nursery care provided.

The talks will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Symington House, the Center of Continuing Education, 12 Library Place. The orientation courses designed for laymen who would like to know not only why but also how they can be involved in such a ministry. Themes of the four sessions are the volunteer's relation to the Lutheran Church, its hospital, and the patient emotionally and spiritually.

The objective of the course is to enable volunteers to visit sick friends in a more meaningful way, to visit the elderly or to counsel attend on Sunday when the theme was "The Mission of the Church in West Windsor." A PROPOSAL FOR POSITIVE DISSENT

"Millions of anti-Administration Democrats now face a terrible disfranchisement. If we stay away from the polls, we shall most certainly help to elect Richard Nixon, who will most certainly mistake this as a sign that the temper of the country is with him — so to let loose in 1969 a violence sure to be worse than what we have seen.

Politics is the art of working with what you have. We Democrats now have an organization man, nominated under circumstances which no apology of his can disavow. Yet it is rumored that he had a noble youth. And it is said the Presidency often brings out the better in a man.

Yet I cannot vote for Hubert Humphrey unless he and all know what my vote means. The duty now of all anti-Humphrey Democrats is to help us express ourselves in vote.

The mails exist, as a start, and they can be powerful. We must be provided with some immediate, en masse means of saying to the nominee and to the party: 'I am a Democrat opposed to Administration policy. Although you were not my candidate for the nomination, I plan to vote for you because I cannot on any score vote for Nixon. Sir, if you get the people's mandate, remember me.'

Some such memo should be put in our hands as soon as money and mimeograph can make it — as the start of a program to provide us with a positive modus vivendi for the next two months. Democrats for the memo, and Republicans it may be, can be a force within the election, to be reckoned with now and after.

We, the deciding, independent voters, must at once have some honorable expression made open to us — and made clear to all — which will allow us to work with the Democratic party. Apathy now — which everyone of us feels — could be tragedy by winter."

Hortense Calisher

Aug. 29, 1968

We the undersigned residents of the Princeton area are anti-Administration Democrats and Republicans. However, as the tenor of the Nixon-Agnew and Wallace campaigns becomes increasingly strident and reactionary, we are more and more convinced that in the election of Humphrey and Muskie lies our best hope for peace and justice at home and abroad.

We have bought this space to bring to attention the above letter which was published in The New York Times on September 5. We urge all voters, especially those who are considering dissent by silence on November 5, to give this statement their consideration and to use the suggested memo or write their own* to register their dissent and, then, to vote.

Dog Ordinance Supported.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
(The following is a copy of a letter sent to the Township Committee.)

The Board of the Riverside School Parent Teachers Organization unanimously supports a full leash dog ordinance for Princeton Township.

MRS. DANIEL MAGER
President, Riverside School P. T. O.

Free Parking at Post Office.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Although the Borough Council has received word from the Post Office that Congressman Frank Thompson, Jr., that the Post Office meter Department intends to maintain a "finance office" at the site of the present Post Office, East side of Palmer Square. East became a "no parking" zone, the United States mail building at Palmer Square was constructed in 1885. This is far from a hiding room, it is a parking meter.

It is still possible for the Post Office Department to give up the Palmer Square opera tion completely when the new facility is finally in operation. One could hardly blame the Postmaster General for doing so since the Borough Council has been doing everything in its power to make the present facility difficult to use by the motoring public, which is practically the entire public today.

A number of years ago all of Palmer Square was decorated with parking meters except for the block in front of the Post Office on Palmer Square South, and a distance of 100 feet on the west side of Palmer Square East. With the construction of the new building at One Palmer Square, the city has received word from the Post Office that Congressman Frank Thompson, Jr., that the Post Office meter Department intends to maintain a "finance office" at the site of the present Post Office, East side of Palmer Square. East became a "no parking" zone, the United States mail building at Palmer Square was constructed in 1885. This is far from a hiding room, it is a parking meter.

On November 9, 1965, the 100 feet of parking on the west side of Palmer Square East became a "no parking" zone. Last fall the block in front of the Post Office was divided into 20 feet parking stalls, readied for the parking meter. The ordinance which Borough Council passed in February 1968, soon as the parking meters which the Borough has ordered are received they will be installed. These parking stalls are so small that it is impossible to maneuver a car, without power steering, into them.

Then the job will be complete. Anyone who wants to run into the Post Office to mail letters, mail packages, buy postage stamps, or conduct any business transaction at the Post Office will have to feed the parking meter. Is this the way to encourage use of a public facility? Will it use this facility when it is an alternate facility is provided where a motorist can park his car, transfer his business to the Post Office, and then leave without worrying about violating a local parking ordinance?

If Borough Council wishes to retain the Palmer Square Post Office as a parking meter, more than letters to the Congressman are required. Some affirmative action should be taken to permit Princetonians to use their Post Office.

May I suggest that the parking meters ordinance for Palmer Square South not be installed, that the 100 feet of "free limited" parking on the west side of Palmer Square East be reconstituted as it was three years ago, and that the first six or eight meters on the east side of Palmer Square West, just north of Palmer Square South, be removed and "free limited" parking be instituted in its stead.

Fourth Jetport Not Needed.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

At a meeting of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics at Princeton University the other night, the attendees were treated to a fine presentation on the subject of the fourth jetport for the New York Metropolitan area, which was proposed to be located in Central New Jersey.

The message presented in a session moderated by David J. Goldberg, N. J. Commissioner of Transportation, was that we better get on with the new airport and cut ourselves into a big slice of the economic windfall the airport will bring.

The meeting quickly converted me from being a strong proponent of such a project to being an opponent of the fourth jet airport.

The picture painted by Albert E. Blount, consulting engineer in transportation of this proposed development, is not very pleasant from the point of view of the attention in the character and population density of the central portion of the state. Among the stated advantages were the construction of 250,000 homes and the creation of 180,000 new jobs. To which one could not be inebriated of about 300,000 cars or more.

A more serious criticism, however, was that consideration of the need for this airport has clearly not proceeded

TUESDAY'S LUNCHEON AND FASHION SHOW, sponsored by the Episcopal Women of Trinity Church, will feature a luncheon and a fashion show from the Trinity Parish Cookbook. Above are Mrs. Dorothy F. Gorman, Mrs. Frank Gorman and Mrs. James Billington in dresses from the Goupil collection. Tickets at $4 may be obtained from the parish office or from committee members Mrs. Lee H. Bristol, Mrs. William H. Flagg, Mrs. Frank T. Gorman Jr., Mrs. Dorothy F. Gorman or Mrs. George Seitz. Luncheon begins at 12:30.

From an examination of our transportation needs of the region and the nation, but also from that of the view point of the air transport industry's needs.

We learned:
1. Only 20% of present day air traffic to New York airports involves trips of more than 200 miles.

2. The direct investment in the fourth airport would be about 2/3 of a billion dollars, which does not include the major investment required in road, rail, and bus systems in order to connect this airport to the principal cities to be served.

3. From Mr. F. A. Carbone, chief of the airports division for the eastern region of the FAA, we learned that presently there is no unused airspace in the 100-mile radius of New York City, and that the creation of this airport might possibly add no capacity to the existing three airport systems.

It appears that a public investment of more than a billion dollars in surface transportation system might only increase the existing airport capacity by as much as 80% without building an additional airport. And further, such an investment would leave us with a gigantic fringe benefit of a vastly improved surface transportation system.

It is interesting to note that because of the fine rail system in Western Europe, the use of air transportation for trips under 200 miles is not very common. Because of this, most major European population centers are served by only one airport with far less congestion than we get with three. Mr. Goldberg indicates that, if we must get on with this airport or we stagnate.

The air transport industry makes a powerful lobbying force. It is quite clear we need a corresponding public transportation lobbying group to put transportation alternatives in proper perspective.

Without doubt this is the most beautiful property we've seen. A long sloping lawn down to the lake, a small bay for a dock, a peninsula with picnic grove to give you an uninterrupted view of trees and shimmering water. You cannot believe that civilization is only a step away.
 The house is contemporary in style with cedar siding. Interior resign is for easy care with its Douglas fir walls. Living room with fireplace, lovely big summer-winter porch with jalousied window walls, dining area, modern kitchen, and big sewing-laundry room.
 The "basement" opens to the back slope and offers a room with fireplace plus a smaller room that would do nicely for a bedroom.
 Though s-mall (two bedrooms), there are endless possibilities for additional rooms in this custombuilt architect designed house. $65,000

TOWNSHIP OF PRINCETON

FALL CLEAN-UP WEEK

The 1968 Fall Clean-Up Week in the Township of Princeton will take place October 7th through October 11th so as to coincide with Fire Prevention Week.

Princeton residents are urged to take advantage of this program to eliminate the threat of fire and the menace of rodents and mosquitos by the removal of rubbish and debris from yards, cellars, attics and vacant lots. The participation of every householder in this betterment program will prevent blight and deterioration.

Material should be placed in containers at the curb early in the week so it will be available for pickup when the trucks are in your area. Brush that is tied into bundles at the curb will also be collected. Large branches removed from trees must be cut and tied into bundles. Only that material which one man can lift will be collected.

Residents should call the Township Engineering Department 921-7077 for additional information or advice.

Frank L. Quinby

Township Engineer

WHEATSHIRE FANE: . . . on one of Princeton's loveliest streets, this little gem of a house is ideal for a couple dreaming of retirement. First floor: living room, dining room, modern kitchen with a screened deck just out the back door where one can linger over a late breakfast and listen to the music of Harry's Brook in the back yard. . . plus 2 bedrooms and a brand new tiled bath. Downstairs: a large recreation room, with bar, with a door to the back yard. The lot is small and easy to maintain, but the trees and shrubs are so luxurious that they create a privacy which you will prize forever. New refrigerator-freezer and combination washer-dryer are included in the sale. Only a short walk to the bus line on Nassau Street. Waldo-wal carpeting. (*) $37,000

NELSON RIDGE: . . . in this lovely area, which is still rural as character is, only a few minutes from the main road, Princeton, a lovely, low white one-story home offers a great deal to people interested in large living areas for entertainment. . . or work. The house has foyer, living room, large dining room, modern kitchen, and a vast family room with wall-to-wall carpeting. Both the den and the screened breezeway have fireplaces. Master bedroom with dressing room and bath, 2 small bedrooms and bath adjoin the den, which could also be used as a study for children. Game room in basement, 1½ acres of land. (*) $39,500

SIX BEDROOMS: . . . just a year ago, this family with seven children found a century-old farm home on an acre, with great old shade trees only 5 minutes from the Junction. Completely restored after the manner of Colonial Williamsburg, the house has a spacious center hall with a wide staircase. To the right is a very large living room with fireplace.
 To the left, a dining room big enough for twelve, a breakfast room, a modern kitchen with stainless steel sink, electric dishwasher, new Formica counter tops, a walk-in pantry, and a modern laundry. At the end of the hall, there's a full bathroom (brand new) which can be a powder room for guests, or where the children can wash up as soon as they enter the house. Upstairs, 6 bedrooms and 2 more brand new bathrooms. (*)
 Price reduced to $61,000

NEAR THE LAKE: . . . with central air-conditioning too! On a high lot with many lofty shade trees, this fine home will appeal to people who appreciate perfection. The living room, with its high ceiling, companionable fireplace and the upland wall-to-wall carpeting, has a balcony leading to 3 bedrooms (one, extra large, for it was planned to be two and two baths).
 The dining room is very spacious, and the very modern kitchen has plenty of space for table and chairs. Downstairs: family room with bar, guest room, 2 bedrooms, 2 bathrooms, 1½ bedrooms, 2 baths, den, a darkroom and lots of storage space. Outdoors: a large swimming pool in a completely fenced yard, beautifully landscaped. All in all, a wonderful home, in excellent condition. (*) $69,500

LAWRENCE: . . . two-story stone and frame Colonial, located in a fine neighborhood with many towering trees, a large lot, a large swimming pool, dining room. Lovely new kitchen, plus hulle's pantry. Two fireplaces, 6 bedrooms, 4 baths and powder room. Located near a college and across the road from a golf club, this fine home is a place you'll love to live in and always be proud of. $79,500

SERVICES & ELEGANT: . . . on a country road, but only ten minutes from Princeton, this fine home, with central air-conditioning, is a great house for a large family (5 bedrooms, 3 baths, den & playroom), or so-called house for a young family (3 bedrooms, 2 baths, den & family room) plus a mother-in-law apartment over the garage. The property is almost 1½ acres in area, has a heated Sylvan swimming pool, and carpeting almost everywhere — including kitchen and bathrooms! $85,000

 this large brick and frame residence, with large central air-conditioning, has a spacious foyer, large living room with fireplace, dining room, library with fireplace, modern kitchen, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, powder room and on the second floor, a huge upstairs family room. Two acres of land, with beautiful trees and shrubs. $115,000
